Merit badges are one of the best reasons that people join scouting. It's a way for young scouts to learn new skills, working toward a goal and hopefully having fun while they do it.

Scouting Merit Badges are non-mandatory – you will not be kicked out of scouting if you don't earn them. However, Scouts do love their Merit Badges and most kids and adults find them rewarding and fun. ##Summary: Step by Step Guide to Writing a Novel##

Writing a novel is like climbing a mountain. You get higher and higher, but can never get to the top. You'll never get perfect spelling or grammar, your characters will make choices that you didn't expect, and your reader will have many unanswered questions about the story. And you'll write another one.

It's okay though. The more adventures you have in your head, the more fun you'll have when you finally sit down to write it out.
